- I thought Juan was a great TA--he would clearly explain problems he did on the board, and could answer questions well. The only thing is that sometimes he would erase the problem too quickly from the board.
- really wanted to help. a little dry
- He took questions happily.
- He was very helpful and broke down key concepts in basic ways for the class. I found his handouts incredibly useful and informative.
- good at explaining problems
- Had difficulty getting class enthused, but I feel like that was more US and not HIM.
- I think he should explain things more explicitly. He often seemed distracted by student answers and would have trouble explaining which answers were correct and why answers were wrong.
- Juan sometimes speaks very fast and when he gets through the points it's hard to understand what he's saying. Otherwise, he's a great TA
- Clear
- more effective review
- Juan David presented class excellently, his work only improving throughout the semester. His powerpoints and blackboard work are consistently clear and well organized. Herreno takes his time to answer student questions, and encourages class participation, letting students down easy and explaining issues clearly and concisely. Serves fantastically to pick up the slack left by Prof. Zaniboni.
- He is moves through the topic quickly and was not much help during Micro, but in Macro, he sent us more resources that I found quite helpful. He also emailed us when questions were raised in the review session that he could not answer on the spot.
- Good TA, always came prepared and was happy to answer questions.
- Pretty good! Very patient and willing to work with you.

- His strengths are that he is extremely organized when teaching the discussion section, and he addresses all the questions we have during class. He also provides ample evidence to supplement our understanding. Also, he provides feedback on the problem sets he grades, and points out the common mistakes people make to help us learn from them.
  - Accessible, reliable and patient. Very knowledgeable.
  - very helpful. always willing to answer questions and direct the students in the right path when things are very complicated
